

Our human nature craves acceptance and belonging. We condition ourselves from an early age to do whatever it takes to receive what we so deeply long for. We'll wear a mask or display a facade to present our best or most "put together" selves. But what if we stepped out from behind the curtain? Do we have the grit to know our truest selves, have genuine relationships with others, and to accept an unconditional love from an authentic God? Join us for a four-week series: A Dutch Front.
